

IT REQUIREMENTS ENGINEER

(m*f*x)

You are an experienced developer but tired of coding?

kraftwerk International – founded in 2011 – in Niš, is a branch of the international digital agency kraftwerk with headquarters in Vienna, Austria. We create information, communication and e-commerce solutions and products for medium and large companies and help them take the next step in the digital age. We do this as a team of more than 60 highly motivated experts.

Your responsibilities.

- Take the lead in all demand IT topics in Niš by identifying, documenting and reviewing project requirements.
- Specify and clarify all tasks for our developers.
- Collaborate closely with the digital implementation department and project management in Vienna.
- Identify the priorities of our customers and handle potential conflicts of requirements.
- Visualize processes and requirements.
- Set up test cases in cooperation with quality assurance.
- Define and implement guidelines and internal processes.
- Share your knowledge and experience throughout the team.

Your skills.

- Minimum of three years of professional experience in a similar position with focus on web and software development, requirements and project management.
- Ability to review designs and focus on best practices.
- Excellent analytical thinking as well as communication skills.
- Solid experience in Jira and Confluence.
- Knowledge of cloud technologies is an additional asset.
- Extra points for experience with agile teams.
- Fluent in English with colleagues and customers.
- Love for coffee.

Our offer.

Family-friendly with flexible working hours and up to 20% remote work.

Attractive compensation package including private health insurance.

Challenging projects with interesting international customers.

Generous budget for individual coaching and personal development.

Ready? Let's go!
Send your application in English including your CV to jobs@kraftwerk.co.at